OVERVIEW

The Leaders Circle 1: Leaders of Characters

From its founding in 1802, West Point Academy (USA) has grown into the preeminent academy of the USA, with a strong commitment in producing commissioned leaders of character for America's Army. Over the last two hundred years, it has produced three US presidents, few hundreds four stars generals, and many CEOs of MNCs whose success could be traced to their learning at West Point. If you desire to be a true leader, join us to learn from the students of West Point on the fundamental leadership principles that make them stand out among the rests. These principles include ethics, communication, teamwork, delegation, planning and handling of failure.
